Invitation

In the 21st century, technology has become an integral part of our life changing our lifestyles and values, and causing positive or adverse effects on human and the environment. We must be appropriately equipped to use technologies effectively and flexibly to solve daily problems with positive attitude at home, in the community and around the world; and to create new solutions, products, and services to achieve health and well-being of humankind. The literacy in technology and living is therefore a necessary investment for the modern world and the next generation. As the organizing committee, we have great honour to invite all the home economics professionals to participate in the 18th ARAHE Biennial International Congress 2015 and share your views and insights.
